Title: End of Sale Notification and Product Transition for G600 Cabinet to G650

Notification Date: May 6, 2005

Companies and organizations around the world look to Avaya to put them on the road to IP telephony, and allow them to migrate as business strategies and budgets align. Avaya makes continuous improvements in its portfolio of products and more modern products naturally replace mature ones.   The G650 Gateway has been well received by customers worldwide, having proved its reliability, stability, and cost effectiveness, and is now well positioned to replace Avaya's older G600. Designed as the complementary gateway for S8500/S8700-based media server solutions, the G650 offer the features, scalability, and system uptime that enterprises require for mission-critical telephony applications.

Effective 12/15/05 Avaya will no longer sell the G600.
