

End of Sale Notice

Notification Date: December 21, 2009

Effective Date: February 21, 2010

Update: September 20, 2013

Subject: S8730 Servers for Modular Messaging

Region: All

Summary

With the introduction of MM5.2 on November 30th, 2009, Avaya now offers new S8800 based servers for its Modular Messaging application. These new servers share a common platform with many other Avaya products that also use S8800 servers, giving our customers a common platform for their Avaya software applications.

Effective February 21st, 2010 Avaya will no longer sell (make commercially available) the S8730 servers for MM5.1 and MM5.0. There will be a limited supply available for those existing MM5.0 and MM5.1 customers who desire to expand their current S8730 based systems. There will also be a limited supply available for those customers who need to purchase MM5.1 to get TTY over QSIG support.

As of September 30th, 2013 Avaya has fully consumed its limited supply that it kept in reserve for MM5.x customers who needed to expand their current S8730 based systems. Thus, any order placed for these servers will no longer be honored. The ASD and SAP systems will be updated by February 2014 to prohibit orders, but any orders attempted between now and then cannot be fulfilled.
