

End of Sale Notice

Revised Date: June 3, 2016

Notification Date: July 1, 2014

Effective Date: December 8, 2014

Subject: Certain Models of Ethernet Routing Switch 4500
End of Manufacturer Support - Software date change, and End of Sale and EoMS for all software releases

Theatre/Region: Global

Reason for Revision

This bulletin is updated to provide notice that effective May 4, 2016, Avaya will no longer release or distribute any new features, patches, or maintenance releases for the ERS 4500 platforms. As a result, no new patches or releases will be distributed for the affected products and releases after May 4, 2016.

As a result of this change, May 4, 2016 represents the End of Sale and End of Manufacturer Support dates for all software revisions. Software revisions 5.7 and earlier are considered to be in the Extended Services Support period, which will remain in effect until the original December 31, 2019 date for these platforms.

Summary

This bulletin is intended to provide notice that effective December 8, 2014 Avaya will no longer be offering the certain models of the Ethernet Routing Switch 4500 outlined below.

Lifetime warranty support for these ERS4500 models will terminate 5 years from the End of Sale date listed below.

Additionally the ERS4000 Advanced License kit for 10 switches/stacks is being discontinued.

Update 6/3/2016- This bulletin is intended to provide notice that May 4, 2016 represents the End of Sale and End of Manufacturer Support dates for all software revisions. ERS 4500 5.7 is considered to be in the Extended Services Support period, which will remain effective until the original December 14, 2021 date.

Mitigation Strategy

The feature compatible successors to the ERS 4500 platforms are the new ERS 4900 platforms, which are now generally available. The ERS 4900 platforms support advanced functionality such as SPF+ (10G), 802.11at (PoE+), and Avaya Shortest Path Bridging, which are not supported with the ERS 5600 platforms.

Note that the ERS 4900 platforms will not stack with the ERS 4500 platforms. Customers needing to expand existing networks may look to deploy new stacks using ERS 4900 platforms, and may deploy ERS 4800 platforms into existing stacks. ERS4500 and ERS4800 platforms are stack compatible when running release the 5.7 software stream.

Customers looking for 100M Ethernet switches are encouraged to consider the ERS3500 product line.

With respect to the quantity 10 software Advanced License kit, the quantity 1 Advanced License kit is not being discontinued.
