D. Conversion of Perpetual Licenses to IP Office Subscription Licenses

Customers have the flexibility to choose to deploy perpetual licenses or Subscription Licenses on each of their Avaya Employee Experience and Customer Experience system instances but cannot mix Subscription Licenses and perpetual licenses of the same type within the same System.

At the time of upgrade and conversion, the perpetual license quantity and type converted to Subscription Licenses will be deleted from the Avaya End User record of perpetual licenses. All rights granted by Avaya under these perpetual licenses will immediately terminate upon conversion and Customer shall return or destroy tangible editions of such perpetual licenses.

It is recommended that migrations of existing Avaya Call Reporting (ACR) perpetual licenses to Subscription Licenses be done at the annual anniversary of the Customer's support services contract. Should a Customer wish to migrate in the middle of the support services contract term, Customer should contact an Avaya account manager.

E. Supported Avaya IP Office™ Subscription License Use Cases

A Customer network may include a single System instance or may be part of a larger network made up of multiple System instances. User Licenses are provisioned on the Avaya IP Office™ systems on a first come-first serve basis, no reservation. Subscription Licenses will not run on the same system as perpetual licenses. Systems in a Small Community Network (SCN) environment must all be licensed for users.

Some Examples:

- For IP Office™ IP500 V2 platforms, each system/node in an IP500 V2 Small Community Network (SCN) deployment must be licensed for users on that node.
- System A has 50 users, and System B has 40 users: each system/node will require users to be licensed within the SCN
- Customer systems that are discrete and not networked together may have a system with subscription licenses and the other distinct system with perpetual licensing
- For a Server Edition deployment, the Primary server needs to support licensing; expansion systems on the network will be provide licensing from the Primary server.

Avaya Subscription Licensing is not supported with IP Office™ Basic Edition or with IP Office™ branch deployments with AURA.

F. New and Add/Expansion

Products available to be purchased using the Subscription Licensing model are subject to Avaya's Product Lifecycle Policy found at <https://downloads.avaya.com/css/P8/documents/100081098>.
